Person of Interest: Why Jesus Still Matters in a World that Rejects the Bible (Pages 111-114, 135-139, 156-160, 185-190, 241-244)

Jesus matters to authors and publishers. He still dominates the publishing industry like no other person of interest. He's inspired more _____— and been the topic of more _____—than any other person in history. (Page 112)

Even if all the New Testament manuscripts were gone, the story of Jesus would remain unless, of course, you were willing and able to destroy _____. That's what it would take to erase the evidence of Jesus's life and ministry. That's how much Jesus has mattered to artists. (Page 136)

Christians are still translating the Book and creating alphabets, even today. According to the Wycliff Global Alliance, at least part of the Bible has been translated into 3,415 languages (representing _____), the complete Bible has been translated into 704 languages (representing 5.7 billion people), and the New Testament has been translated into 1,551 languages (representing _____). Jesus followers are largely responsible for advancing literacy across the globe. (Page 160)

Jesus followers believed one God ruled the universe in an _____, _____ manner and created us as _____ beings in his image. This view led to the birth of science as Christians explored their world, identifying the orderly laws that governed the universe and employing the rationality they received from their Creator. (Page 186)

Jesus matters to people all over the globe, even to people who've _____. If all the Christian Bibles were destroyed, we'd still be able to reconstruct the story of Jesus from the scriptures, writings, and statements of non-Christian religions and their leaders. (Page 242)

Case Making Course Session 20 (Investigating the Impact of Jesus) - The Fallout Following the Appearance of Jesus

Did you know how much Jesus impacts the culture in which we live today? Even if you're an atheist, _____, are the things that Jesus had the greatest impact on.

The Greatest Impact On:

Even though these non-Christian religious systems point to Jesus and revere and admire Jesus, He doesn't _____. Instead, He says that He is the only way, and the truth, and the life, and that no one comes to the Father except through Him.

WRITE

Answer the Prompt Briefly to Master the Material:

Why are Christianity and science not enemies? What is a common claim you have heard for why Christianity is perceived as anti-science? How could you respond?
